Agricultural Fertilizer

To improve the quality of soil and the fruit bearing capacity of the crop, farmers use various kinds of agricultural fertilizers. We offer a wide range of organic fertilizers that are useful for the crop and soil to improve their fertility. This in turn increases the productivity of the plant. The type of fertilizer is selected based on the type of crop and soil for which it is to be used.

Bio Pesticide

The pesticides are used to control the pests that damage the crop. The pesticides that we offer are made from natural components hence they do not cause any harm to the plant or soil. We offer a wide range of pesticides that give the best solution for pest management in your crop. The bio pesticide presented by us makes sure that the level of quality of plant is kept high.

Organic Manure

Organic manure is made up of dead plants, animal remains and other manure compost. They are used in the soil to increase the productivity of the crop. The organic manure helps increase the nutrient level of the soil and this helps in improving the physical health of the plants. They help in increasing the infiltration capacity of the soil.

Agro Chemical

Agro chemical includes fertilizers, pesticides, insecticides, fungicides, hormones and other chemical growth agents. This agro chemical helps to manage the agricultural ecosystem in the farming areas. They are added in the soil to increase its fertility, productivity and to encourage the growth of the plant. They are offered in various compositions depending on the type of soil and plant in which it is used.

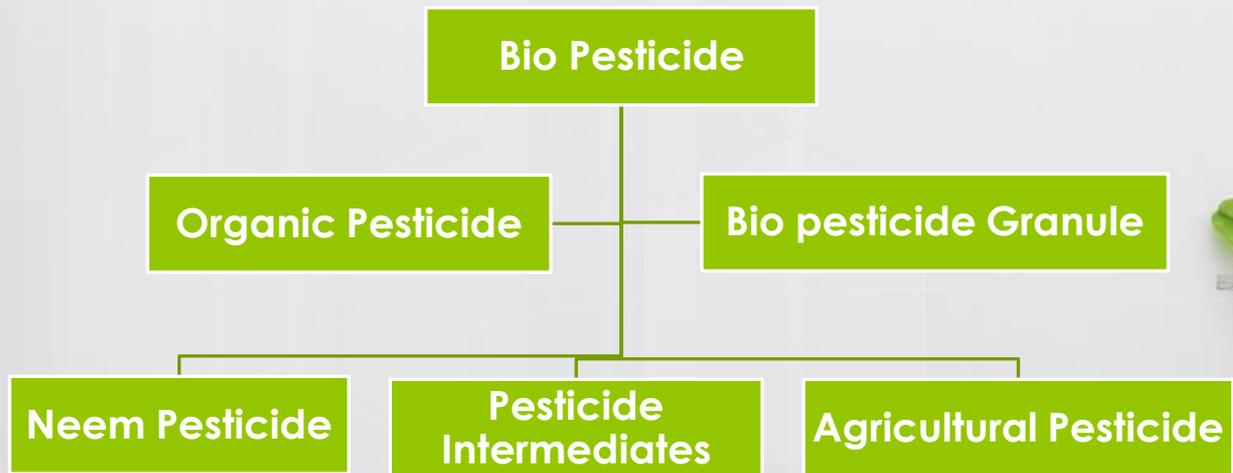

Bio Organic Pesticide

The bio organic pesticide is used to eliminate the presence of pests and other harmful living organisms that harm the health of the crop. The organic pesticide we offer have a certified and approved level of natural ingredients in them. They are kept at a safe level to ensure the health of plant is not affected adversely. We offer them in various quantities of packages.
